New York, NY, September 1, 2017...Three extremely rare Natural Fancy Color diamonds from The One and Only One™ are available at selected fine jewelers beginning this month. A 3.05-carat Fancy Pink diamond ring, a 0.92-carat Fancy Intense Argyle Pink diamond eternity ring, and a 2.40-carat Fancy Intense Blue diamond ring may be viewed by appointment only. The diamonds are certified by the Gemological Institute of America (GIA). Prices are available upon request.

Pink Oval

“Collectors of pink diamonds will love the rare and romantic 3.05-carat Oval-cut Fancy Pink diamond,” said Joe Padulo, CEO of Padulo Privé, and a consultant to high-end jewelers. Flanked by a superbly matched pair of rare Fancy Blue diamonds (totaling 1.34 carats), the pink oval is set in platinum and surrounded by a halo of pink diamonds from the Argyle Mine in Western Australia.

For Eternity

The 0.92-carat Radiant-cut Argyle Fancy Intense Pink diamond possesses a lovely and seldom-seen Rosy Blush color. Set in platinum with three rows of white diamonds (totaling 6.25 carats), the eternity band expands for comfort and fit.

Blue Pear

An extraordinarily rare stone, the 2.40-carat Pear-shaped Fancy Intense Blue diamond comes from the famed Cullinan Mine in South Africa, the world's premier source of natural blue diamonds. It is set in platinum with two Pear-shaped white diamonds totaling 1.05 carats.

For Collectors, Investors and Connoisseurs

"We have seen an unprecedented demand for investment quality natural color diamonds in the last few years," said Padulo. "The rise in popularity of these Fancy Color diamonds has been documented in the financial press, and by record-breaking sales at the world's leading auction houses."

National Jeweler reported on August 23, 2017: "...colored diamonds have increased in value, on average, by 100 percent over the past decade, with blue stones showing the strongest growth over the past 12 months at 5.5 percent, according to the Knight Frank Luxury Investment Index."
