According to Joe Padulo, CEO of Padulo Privé and a consultant to elite jewelers and luxury brands, "The Cushion-cut Fancy Intense Yellow is a rare and majestic stone, masterfully cut and polished from an 84-carat rough diamond acquired at the Kimberley Tender in South Africa."

The ring is custom designed in platinum and 18K gold, and features two diamond baguettes totaling 1.00 carat.

With remarkable saturation for the Fancy Deep category, the Fancy Deep Blue diamond is like those found only in the now-retired Golconda mines of India. "It's a mesmerizing blue color that is reminiscent of the Hope Diamond, the Wittlesbach and the Shirley Temple blue diamond," said Padulo.

The Fancy Deep Blue diamond is set in a platinum ring and flanked by two Pear-shaped diamonds totaling 1.6 carats.

For Collectors, Investors and Connoisseurs

Demand for investment-quality Fancy Color Diamonds has never been stronger. The rise of this alternative asset class has been documented by prestigious financial journals and record-breaking auction sales.

According to Rahul Kadakia, Christie's International Head of Jewelry: "Over the past 10 years Fancy Color Diamonds have jumped 10-fold. What was then $200,000 per carat can easily be worth $2 million per carat and more today."
